Liberty, Benson Announce Mainstream Market Plans

LIBERTY RECORDS and distributed contemporary Christian label Benson Records today announced the first wave of promotional efforts to the general market for several of Benson's top releases, including two-time Group of the Year 4HIM and former Stryper front-man, Michael Sweet.

Initial marketing efforts for both projects will be driven by two key ingredients—radio singles aimed at AC, top 40 and CHR radio, plus a commercial cassette single available only through general market retailers.

4HIM's newest project, The Ride, will be supported in both markets by the radio single "For Future Generations," which will ship in mid-to-late October. Liberty and Benson hope that releasing the same single to both the general and Christian markets will create a "synergy" that will help drive the success of the single and the album. "For Future Generations" will also be the commercial cassette single available through general market retailers, with the B-side featuring the title cut "Ride of Life." As for retail sales to general market, a spokesperson at Liberty says 4HIM's The Ride, which released Sept. 26, is already 15% ahead of its target goal for initial ship.

General market success is no stranger to Michael Sweet, who released his solo debut project earlier this year. The former front man for popular '80s Christian rock supergroup Stryper hopes to follow up his former band's hits like "Honestly" with his first solo radio single to the general market, "Tomorrow, Tonight." The single, which is going for adds the week of Sept. 26, was shipped to AC and CHR stations on Sept. 21.

"Tomorrow, Tonight" is also the first commercial cassette single to release from Sweet's latest project. However, unlike 4HIM's cassette single, which is simply backed by a second song from the album, "Tomorrow, Tonight" will be backed by 1 1/2 minute edits of three different songs from his eponymously titled debut. Liberty and Benson hope that "Together," "All This and Heaven Too" and "Ain't No Safe Way" will give consumers a sampling of Sweet's release and encourage sell through of the album.

Both projects are slated for most Christmas advertising campaigns with major accounts, providing that The Ride and Michael Sweet are priced and positioned at retail during the holiday buying season. In addition, CEMA field merchandising representatives continue to work the projects regionally by utilizing display materials at local retail outlets.

"We are hoping to introduce 4HIM and Sweet to the general market through micro-marketing both in key major markets at radio and retail," noted Stin Fox, Benson's director of marketing for the general market. "As shown by the proven success of other Christian artists, the market is ready for projects such as these."

"I can't recall a time when people were as hungry as they are now for music with real meaning and moral integrity," adds Liberty president and CEO Jimmy Bowen. "And I'm not talking about music that preaches, but music that guides and inspires. The mounting success of 4HIM and Michael Sweet is further testimony to the growing demand for great Christian music. Liberty Records is proud to contribute its know-how and enthusiasm to this growth—our common goal." ■

English 'Not Coming Back,' Records Duet with Wynonna

IN HIS FIRST TRADE interview since his exit from the contemporary Christian music field last May, Michael English spoke candidly about his decision not to return to the Christian industry in last week's issue of Billboard (Oct. 14). The article comes in the wake of English's newly signed deal with Curb Records, which is releasing English's first single this week to mainstream top 40 and AC markets. The single, a duet with Wynonna entitled "Healing," will be featured on the soundtrack of the upcoming motion picture Silent Fall, starring Richard Dreyfuss and Linda Hamilton.

Commenting on his decision to remain detached from the contemporary Christian music industry, English told Billboard, "When everything happened with me, everybody's question was, 'When should we allow Michael to come back?' And I'm not coming back. It's a really tough decision for me, but I don't want to be controlled anymore by the contemporary Christian industry... That would be a major hand on my neck, because I messed up and [people would be saying,] 'Now we're going to tell him what he needs to do.' And I think I'm going to let God do that."

Additionally, English expressed his disappointment with the way his situation was handled by Warner Alliance. In order to spare any pain to his own daughter and Marabeth Jordon's children, he says he had planned to leave the industry without public explanation, but was unable to do so because of the announcement made by Warner Alliance.

"I just wanted to stop for a while," English stated. "I was planning on stepping down for a year or two and get my life straightened out and go through some time of restoration, but they wouldn't hear of it. They had to make their statement, and I think that statement was what caused everybody to freak."

In response to the fact that members of the Christian music industry have urged him to return in order to share his story and reach even larger audiences, English told Billboard, "I know I'm going to have to talk about it. That's part of coming back, but there's going to be a time when I don't have to anymore. But if I came back to the [Christian] industry, I'd have to talk about it, preach about it, testify about it for Lord knows how long, and I choose not to do that. I choose not to have a tool like that to make myself huge in the Christian industry. I think that's ridiculous. I think that's nasty, and I think that's dirty... I don't have a gimmick. I've just got a voice, and I just want to use that voice." ■

Diadem Now Distributed by Spring Arbor

IN A PRESS RELEASE dated Oct. 1, Diadem Inc. and Spring Arbor Distributors jointly announced that effective Sept. 1, all Diadem new titles and catalog products will be available from Spring Arbor Distributors. Diadem currently represents labels that include Diadem Music, Tribute Records, Music Quest, Kingsway Music, Fortress Records, Home Sweet Home, Sonrise Music and Rugged Records.

"We are very happy with this partnership with Spring Arbor," states

George King, Diadem President. "Our goal is to make our products available to as many retailers as possible. This partnership is a very positive leap in that direction." Wayne Hastings, vice President, Product Marketing for Spring Arbor says, "We believe that the addition of Diadem products to our music inventory helps to reinforce our ideal of full-service to the local Christian retailer. With one convenient call, a retailer can now, with the inclusion of Diadem, have a complete selection of music products." ■
