Koblisch to Be GMA's First Paid President

Additional Board Seats Also Announced

ON BEHALF OF THE Board of Directors of the Gospel Music Association, Elwyn Raymer, current Chairman of the Board, has announced that Bruce Koblisch will become the organization's first paid president and that several additional board seats have been authorized for affiliated organizations.

"Koblisch, who became the GMA's Executive Director in June 1991, will succeed John W. Styll, who has served as president in a volunteer capacity for the past three years. The transition will take place at the end of April, at which time the Board will also elect a chairman," stated Raymer.

The GMA Board also created and approved several new seats to increase representation of affiliated organizations. In November 1993, permanent seats were added for representatives from the Gospel Music Workshop of America (GMWA) and the Southern Gospel Music Guild (SGMG). Recently, the Board added seats for the Christian Music Trade Association (CMTA), National Christian Radio Seminar (NCRS), National Christian Promoter's Roundtable (NCPR), and the Christian Music and Video Retailers (CMVR). In the future, ASCAP, BMI and SESAC will hold one board seat on a rotation basis for performance rights organizations.

"The addition of these organizations to our Board clarifies and strengthens the GMA's role as an umbrella association designed to unite and synergize the various music styles and business activities within gospel and Christian music," stated Koblisch.

Said Styll, "Bruce Koblisch and his staff have brought the GMA to an unprecedented level of activity and effectiveness. As GMA president, it has been a great privilege to be working with Bruce during this time."

Koblisch will continue to serve as executive director of the CMTA.

The GMA will hold its annual membership meeting in Nashville on April 15, 1994, at which seven new board members will be elected. ■

Trend Tip

Growing Acceptance of Christian Music Seen at NARM

THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION of Recording Merchandisers (NARM), held its annual convention March 19-21 in San Francisco, and while Christian music remains largely invisible at this high-level confab of record labels and retailers, indications are that things are changing.

Bruce Koblisch, executive director of the Gospel Music Association and the Christian Music Trade Association, noted a different attitude among mainstream retail and recording industry contacts. "The awareness level of gospel and contemporary Christian music, and the attitude with which the mainstream companies are treating it was markedly different from a year ago. They're no longer looking at it with a cynical eye or failing to take it seriously. There was a definite increase in the perceived validity of what we are doing, and an increased desire on the part of retailers and record labels to seriously get involved."

Koblisch points out that the GMA/NARM point of purchase campaign in support of the 25th Annual Dove Awards, which is currently underway, was enthusiastically received by mainstream retailers and "certainly set the stage for [positive acceptance] at this year's convention."

Gospel Music Resolution Needs Co-sponsors

The Gospel Music Association (GMA) in partnership with the United Gospel Industry Council (UGIC) was able to have a Congressional Resolution introduced last November which would declare 1994 to be "The Year of Gospel Music."

The House version of the bill, House Joint Resolution 297, was introduced by Congressmen Jim Cooper (TN) and Floyd Flake (NY). The Senate companion measure, Senate Joint Resolution 157, was introduced by Senators Jim Sasser (TN) and Carol Moseley-Braun (IL).

In order to help make this the "Year of Gospel Music," people are encouraged to contact their Congressman/woman and both of their U.S. Senators and ask them to become co-sponsors of H.J. Res. 297 and S.J. Res. 157, respectively. To be enacted, the resolution must have 218 co-sponsors in the House and 51 co-sponsors in the Senate. As of press time, there were currently 22 co-sponsors lined up in the House and six in the Senate.

Reunion Music Adds Staff and Writers

SINCE ENTERING INTO a joint venture with Bertlesmann Music Group (BMG) in January, 1993, Reunion Music has undergone a time of growth which has seen the addition of six new staff writers and two new staff members.

"1993 was a year of rebuilding for us in terms of our publishing catalog," said Reunion Music CEO/President Terry Hemmings. "We are fortunate to have a terrific roster of writers who are enjoying success across many musical genres."

Leading the list of writers signed in 1993 is acclaimed songwriter/producer Michael Omartian, who has written a number of cuts on upcoming projects he's producing for Amy Grant, Kathy Troccoli and Gary Chapman. He also wrote "When Love Finds You," which has been recorded by Vince Gill for his next album. Omartian has also produced albums for artists including Michael Bolton, Christopher Cross and Peter Cetera.

Songwriter Grant Cunningham also signed on as a staff writer with Reunion Music in 1993. He was recently nominated for a Mid-South Regional Emmy Award for "Diary of Love," a song he co-wrote with Chris Davis and Carolyn Lawrence for a WSMV-TV promotion. Cunningham has also had songs cut by Cindy Morgan, Karthi and Michele Wagner.

Other recently-signed writers and their current cuts include songwriter/artist Judson Spence, who wrote "The Power" for Amy Grant's upcoming A&M/Myrrh release; Connie Harrington (Barbara Fairchild, Pam Thum, and Michael James); Dennis Patton (East to West) and Scott Parker (Kim Hill).

Reunion Music writer Wayne Kirkpatrick spent much of 1993 writing songs and producing projects for Susan Ashton, Kim Hill and Billy Sprague. A video of Hill's first single, "Janie's Gone Fishin'," which Kirkpatrick wrote, is currently being aired on Country Music Television (CMT). Kirkpatrick has also garnered two cuts, "Grand Canyon" and "Clown in Your Rodeo," on Kathy Mattea's soon-to-be-released project.

Reunion artist/songwriter Wes King celebrated two #1 hits from his 1993 project The Robe, the title cut and "I Believe," and is up for six Dove Awards. Two of his nominations are in the Song of the Year category, for "The Robe," which he co-wrote with Phil Naish, and "We Believe in God," a song he co-wrote with Amy Grant which she recorded for Reunion's Songs From the Loft disc. King also received an achievement award for "I Believe" on March 9 from the Nashville Songwriters Assn. International in the gospel category.

Labelmate Rich Mullins also chalked up a #1 hit with "Hold Me Jesus" from his disc, A Liturgy, a Legacy and a Ragamuffin Band. The song also received two Dove Award nominations.

Spearheading Reunion Music's future efforts as director of creative and professional management is Linda Boume. A native of Jackson, Mississippi, Boume was creative manager for Sony Music Publishing in Los Angeles for four years.

Under Boume's supervision, Kevin Brenneman is the newly-appointed manager of licensing and administration. Formerly senior copyright administration assistant with Jobete Music in Los Angeles, Brenneman is a graduate of Berklee College of Music in Boston.

Richard Headen remains with the company as creative manager, handling catalog exploitation and writer relations for the genres of country and contemporary Christian music.

Reunion Music now includes a roster of 13 staff writers and administers copyrights for songwriter/publishing companies including Amy Grant (Edward Grant, Inc.), Michael W. Smith (Emily Boothe, Inc) and Brown Bannister (Bases Loaded).
